Door To Door Canvass To Follow NRA Mass Meeting In The City Park Tonight

Expect Biggest Crowd In City's History To Hear Speeches, Entertainment

Sierra Madre has become so thoroughly N.R.A. minded and alive to the importance of the drive to shake off the depression that those in charge of the event predict tonight's N.R.A. mass meeting in the City Park will be the largest public gathering ever held in this city.

"Interest in both the meeting and success of this drive is far beyond my expectation," said J. S. Billheimer, chairman of the local N.R.A. committee, "and the committee has been assured that there will be a surprising response to the appeal to the patriotism of our people. And attendance at the meeting is really a patriotic duty for its purpose is to inform the people how they can best co-operate to bring back employment and restore confidence. And surely we all want to contribute every ounce of energy to that end and to learn how we may do it.

"The program committee has given a splendid account of itself. Not only has it secured speakers of exceptional force and ability, but a program of music and entertainment that is sure to please everyone."

All the civic organizations are enthusiastically working to make the meeting the greatest outdoor gathering ever held here. Joseph Swanson, chairman of the program committee, announces that Mayor Reavis will open the meeting and introduce the permanent chairman, Mr. Billheimer.

Members of the American Legion and the Volunteer Fire Department will serve as ushers and to them has been entrusted also the task of seeing that absolute order is maintained so that the effect of the addresses will not be lost. At the close of the meeting they will distribute NRA pledges, the signing of which commit the signer to full cooperation as consumers in carrying through the NRA program. Those signing the pledges will immediately receive the Blue Eagle stickers.

George H. Mosser of Pasadena, the principal speaker, former head of the Federal Reserve Bank in New York, has been very successful in awakening his hearers to the necessity of active support of the NRA program in his appearances before women's clubs, service clubs and business organizations. His talk will not be lengthy but will be full of desired information and inspiration.

F. G. Martin, assemblyman from this district, has been invited to make a short talk regarding the recently passed State legislation designed to supplement and assist in making the NRA program effective.

The entertainment program of eight numbers which has been arranged through the efforts of W. R. Humphries promises to be one of the best ever given in the park. The performers, some of them already favorably known to Sierra Madre audiences, are generously donating their services to help boost along the NRA movement .

The kiddies will be delighted to hear that "Gilmore," the flying lion, will be present in his den, and that they can look him over at close quarters. "Gilmore" has made several transcontinental flights and, according to his trainer, is taking a very deep interest in the NRA. The

Every Citizen Not Displaying The Blue Eagle Will Be Asked To Sign Pledge

Immediately after tonights big NRA mass meeting in the City Park the city will be divided into districts and a house to house canvass to sign up citizens in supoprt of the NRA program will be started by the men of the Volunteer Fire Department.

Responsibility for this canvass was assumed by Joseph Swanson and other officers of the firemen's organization who met with Chairman Billheimer and members of the NRA executive committee on Wednesday afternoon. It was originally planned to ask for a volunteer in each city block to interview every citizen in that block and to secure his or her signature to an NRA consumer's pledge.

For the purpose of interesting the people of the city in their annual Christmas party and distribution of gifts the firemen canvass the citizens once a year and it was believed that if they, as an organization, would accept the task it could be more quickly and perhaps more efficiently done than by unorganized volunteers.

The firemen cheerfully accepted the job assigned them and announced they were ready to start out next Monday or Tuesday by which time those who receive the NRA Blue Eagle at the City Park tonight will have had an opportunity to display them on their front doors.

At this evening's meeting Chairman Billheimer will ask every citizen to paste his or her Blue Eagle on their doors so that when the firemen make their rounds it will be unnecessary to ring a door bell where the insignia is shown. The occupants of every house not displaying the Blue Eagle will be reached by repeated calls before the canvass is concluded and it is confidently predicted that at its conclusion the local committee will be able to wire Washington that "Sierra Madre is 100 per cent behind the NRA."

Woman's Club Plans Big Garden Party For Next Wednesday

After two months of comparative inactivity, the Sierra Madre Woman's Club, under the direction of its new president, Mrs. J. Milton Steinberger, is announcing a garden party, for next Wednesday, August 30, on the N. W. Tarr estate.

The committee has appropriately chosen a moonlight night and promises a delightful "get together" and "acquaintance" party. It urges the attendance and cooperation of all its members in its first affair of the season, which opens up a big membership drive. The party is not a money-making scheme but a get-together social to which the public is invited. The admission price includes all activities of the evening.

Mrs. Woodson F. Jones and Mrs. Milford J. Thompson comprise the committee in charge of general arrangements. They will be assisted by Mrs. W. S. Hull, who will have charge of the grounds ;Mrs. Emile Smith, decorations; Mrs. R. S. Corlett, cards; Mrs. Nestor Young, dessert; Miss Mary Davis, dancing, and Mrs. Steinberger, lights.

Reduction Of 10 Per Cent In County Taxes Is Promised

A definite promise that there will be a reduction of ten per cent in county taxes to be collected during the current year was contained in a statement issued by Chairman John R. Quinn of the Board of Supervisors on Wednesday evening. The statement was issued to stem the storm of protest against a threatened increase.

It will be necessary to slightly increase the tax rate, Quinn said, but the increase applied to the greatly reduced assessable valuations will actually call for 10 per cent less of the taxpayers' money than was exacted by the 88-cent levy that has prevailed during the last two years.

The total governmental expenses, Quinn said, will be kept under $38,000,000 as compared to $43,000,000 last year. He pointed out that revenue other than from the tax source will amount to over $12,000,000.

Local Golfer's Drive Performs Real Miracles

HERE'S another for your scrap-book. Joe Sadler whaled a long drive on the Altadena Country Club golf links last Sunday. The ball popped into a water hazard, skimmed off the surface of the pond, lit in a ditch, bounced out and rolled nonchalantly onto the fairway.

But the chief surprise in the story lies in the fact that this series of miracles occured in the presence of witnesses. Jim Hawks, Carl Pegler and Frank Spencer vouch for its authenticity—solemnly.

Plan Second Rally For NRA Drive In Woman's Clubhouse

Joseph Swanson ,chairman of the program committee of the local NRA announced last night than an indoor rally at the Woman's Club will be held shortly to supplement tonight's open air NRA meeting.

Mr. Swanson stated that Mrs. J. Milton Steinberger, president of the Woman's Club, is in charge of all arrangements for this second meeting and that the date, place and names of speakers will be announced shortly.

Mrs. Steinberger is anxious to have only the best of speakers who are thoroughly conversant with all angles of the subject and has not yet been able to get an open date with ones she most desires, according to Mr. Swanson.

She had hoped to hold this meeting in the school auditorium but that proves unavailable as some necessary repairs and painting are being done preparatory to the opening of school next month. Mrs. Steinberger is plannign one or two attractive entertainment numbers on the program it is announced.

New Legion Heads Take Their Posts

Berwick Just Named 18 District Commander Installs Officers

Roy O. Shetler was installed as Commander of the Sierra Madre Post 297 of the American Legion in the legion quarters of the City Hall Monday night, and ex-Commander R. O. Caukin, who had headed Post 297 until the time of the annual election two weeks ago, was presented with his former-commander's badge. The installing officer for the evening was Lloyd Berwick, recently elected 18th district Commander.

Other officers receiving their official recognition were Cy Young, first vice-commander; George Quitner, adjutant; James Irvine, sergeant-at-arms; Judge W. F. Thayer, chaplain, and Benjamin Stinman, historian.

Announcement of committee heads, as made later by Commander Shetler includes: R. O. Caukin, sick and relief; Cy Young, membership; Vincent Fleming, publicity; Anthony Goodier, house committee.

R. O. Caukin, on receiving his badge from former Post Commander Art Evans gave a talk in which he set forth all of the important work done by the organization during his year in office, including the lauded emergency relief operations in the stricken area at the time of the earthquake.

Commander Shetler pledged himself to the observance of the Legion's policies and promised a year of community service for the post. He also confirmed the appointment of Arthur Embree, who wil lact as the local representative in the District committee work, and who will personally cooperate with Commander Berwick.

Peachy Wrist Watch Claimed By Two Women

THE title for this little drammer could be either "News stories travel," or "There's always flies after rain." When Mrs. Fred LaLone found a gold wristwatch in a can of peaches a couple weeks ago she didn't realize her find was quite important enough to start the Associated Press wires huming. But it was, and when the item was published in Oakland two ingenious female heads started working.

In Richmond lived Mrs. D. E. Nagle. She works in a canning factory, and she once had a wristwatch that was the sole token to remind her of her dead daughter. She wrote to Mrs. LaLone—but, alas, her description didn't quite tally.

In Fresno lived another reader of the Oakland paper She was positive she had mistaken her watch for a peach and canned it, and she asked for its return—but, and again alas, she didn't even have a discription.

So Mrs. LaLone still has the watch—and the whole LaLone family is practically ill from optimistically eating so many canned peaches since the surprise package incident . . .

Old Tax Rate Of $2.40 Is To Remain Here

Council Passes Ordinance Reducing Amount To Be Raised About $13,000

An ordinance continuing in effect the municipal tax rate of $2.40 per $100 of assessed valuation will be finally adopted by the City Council at a special meeting next Monday evening. As it was introduced and passed a first time on Monday when the budget was approved it provides for a reduction of the amount to be collected from local taxpayers of $13,508.53 under the amount called for by the budget for the fiscal year 1932-33.

To maintain the rate of $2.40 it will be necessary to operate the various city activities for approximately $8,800 less than last year. A dollar of the tax levy goes toward the general fund for the payment of salaries, police, light, fire, street cleaning, garbage and rubbish collection. On the new, reduced assessed valuation this levy will raise only $24,746.40.

To meet the city's sinking fund requirements for outstanding bond issues $27,538.74 will be required and to raise this amount it was necessary to assess a tax of $1.13 per $100 of assessed valuation. There was a reduction of one cent per $100 of the levy necessary to carry on both the park and library.

The rate will be higher in Canyon Park which was assessed for the swimming pool and for new streets and roads of that area.

The general tax levied for the several city purposes and the amount to be raised follows:

	Rate	To Raise
General Fund	$1.00	$24,746.40
Library Fund	.16	3,959.42
Park Fund	.11	2,722.10
Int. & Sink. Fund	1.13	27,963.43
	$2.40	$59,391.35

The amount to be raised for all purposes this year is $63,885.58 as against $77,394.11 appropriated last year, these amounts including special Canyon Park assessments.

The budget as adopted contains practically no provision for relief of unemployment for which the city spent $13,790 of its own and $13,685 of the county's money last year. It is expected, however, that if there is a substantial decrease in tax delinquencies this year it will be possible to afford some little relief.

"We have fixed the same tax rate for this as for last year in face of a reduction of about 20 per cent in the city's assessed valuation," said Mayor Reavis when the tax levy ordinance was introduced on Monday, "and it will be necessary to operate the various activities under the Council's control for approximately $8,800 less than last year. However we are trying to give people this reduction in taxes without serious curtailment of the service. Of the amount called for by the budget $24,746 will be expended under the Council's supervision. This calls for $1 of the tax rate of $2.40. Last year this $1 against the valuation then existing brought in $39,000."

"I hope," said Councilman Lester K. Layton addressing the citizens in the Council chamber, "that the people will bear with us if the service should be a trifle slower than heretofore. We have done the best we could under the circumstances, without abandoning or curtailing any of the services our citizens have come to expect."

J. O. Smith complimented the Council for its action. "The Council should be commended," he said, "and I have no doubt the people will show their appreciation. To maintain the old tax rate with the big depreciation in assessed valuations and without serious injury to the public service shows that you gentlemen have given the matter careful thought."

County Refuses To Help Canyon Park Property Owners

Sierra Madre's request for an allocation from the State's gasoline tax fund for the relief of Canyon Park property owners assessed for improvement of Sturtevant Road and other Canyon thoroughfares has been denied by the Board of Supervisors.

The sum of $850,000 in State gasoline tax money was allocated to Los Angeles County for apportionment among improvement and acquisition districts. Only improvements designated as "major or secondary highway improvements" were included. Although this city cited the fact that Sturtevant Road is a main roadway through Big Santa Anita Canyon, and is much used by hikers and tourists en route to the mountain camps as well as for getting fire equipment into the Angeles forest, the request was refused on the ground that the improvements would not prove a general county benefit.

Hotel Here Will Close Next Friday

City Will Be Without Hostelry Temporarily, First Time In Its History

After September Sierra Madre will be temporarily without a hotel for the first time since the city came into being. Next Friday Mr. and Mrs. Lucky Ball, who for the past seven years have leased and operated the Sierra Madre Hotel on West Central avenue, will move out as the result of the recent sale of the building to Charles L. Salov, of Los Angeles.

The transfer of the property, which includes the hotel and arcade shops as well as stores on either side of the Central avenue entrance, was made by Daniel Levinson, the previous owner, also of Los Angeles. No arrangements have as yet been made to continue the hotel service, and Ball's furnishings have been put into storage in the old Town Hall building at Baldwin and Central avenues.

Mr. and Mrs. Ball will leave on a motor trip through Missouri and the Middle Western states September 5, planning on visiting many old friends in their home state. They will return to Sierra Madre to live at the conclusion of the trip.

New Trial Is Demanded In Canyon Suit

Another Effort To Resist Assessments For Street Work Held Excessive

E. E. George and other Canyon Park property owners have filed an application for a new trial of their suit to restrain the city from collecting assessments for the improvement of canyon streets and roads held to be in excess of the amounts actually required to meet the bond payments.

Their original action was dismissed by Judge Myron Westover in the Superior Court, who held that the City Council had used proper discretion in fixing the assessments and that they were not excessive.

The city had contended that it was necessary to levy an amount apparently somewhat in excess of the actual requirements in order to meet any shortages that might result through failure of some of the affected property owners to meet their bond obligations. The court held this was justified and proper in face of the fact that there was an actual shortage last year.

Application for a new trial filed by Roy A. Linn who appeared as counsel in the original action, sets forth that new evidence not submitted in the first trial has been discovered, that insufficient evidence was produced in the first trial to justify the court's decision, that the court's decision was contrary to the law in the case and that errors of law occured during the first trial to which the plaintiffs took exception.

There will be a hearing on the application in department 37 of the Superior Court at 9:30 o'clock on September 22.

Vote Of People On Proposal To Amend Beer Ordinance Argued Before The Council

Suggestion For An Election Now Opposed By Churchmen Who Would Wait Until Repeal Of Eighteenth Amendment— Sale Of Beer "Over The Counter" Hailed As First Step Towards Return Of The Saloon—

A proposal that a special election be immediately held here so that the people may decide by majority vote whether or not the beer ordinance shall be amended so that beer may be consumed where sold was submitted to the City Council at a special meeting on Monday night. A delegation of churchmen present to oppose adoption of the amendment by Council opposed the suggestion of an election until after repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, declaring that if the ordinance is amended to allow the sale of 3.2 beer now it would be permissable to dispense a brew of much greater alcoholic content after the Eighteenth amendment has passed out of existence.

Permitting beer to be consumed where purchased now, the churchmen argued, was a step toward legalizing the open saloon and that it was time enough to consider this proposition when prohibition has gone completely into the discard. An election after repeal of the ammendment they urged, would give the people an opportunity to say whether Sierra Madre is to have a saloon and any vote in the meantime would be inconclusive. Inevitably, they said, a vote now would be followed by a demand for another vote later as to whether hard liquor shall be sold.

Petitions of Protest

It developed during the discussion that petitions are in circulation protesting to the Council against any amendment to the beer ordinance permitting beer to be consumed where sold.

Incidently both sides were assured by Mayor Reavis, speaking for the council, that there would be no hasty action one way or another on the proposal to amend the ordinance and that an opportunity will be afforded everyone who wishes to be heard on the subject before any action whatever is taken—either by the Council itself acting on an ammendment proposal to it or in calling a special election to allow the people to decide.

"This Council is not anxious to make any change in the beer ordinance until it knows pretty definitely what a majority of the people want," said Mayor Reavis, "and you can be assured there will be no undue haste. It should be understood, of course, than an election could be forced by a properly signed initiative petition authorizing the immediate submission of this question to the electorate, but I have no information that there is any such movement afoot or contemplated."

Beer "Over the Counter"

A generous representation of members of the Congregational and Bethany churches attended the Council meeting and it was whispered that they would present petitions protesting any amendment to the existing beer ordinance that will allow consumption of beer over the counter in Sierra Madre. If presentation of the petition was contemplated, the step was probably delayed in view of the assurance of the mayor.

At the outset of the meeting a letter from Arthur Johnson Jr., was read proposing an immediate submission of the subject to the citizenry. It was Johnson who presented the petition containing the signatures of 364 voters asking adoption of the ammendment now pending before the Council. In his communication on Monday night suggesting an election, he said:

"On August 9th a petition bearing the signatures of 364 residents, requesting the Council to amend City Ordinance 345 to permit legal beer to be consumed on the premises where sold, was presented to the City Council for their consideration.

Abide by Decision

"It has now been brought to the writer's attention that the opponents to the amendment are circulating an opposition petition, therefore it seems the only way to settle the question fairly, for both sides, is for the Council to call a special election and let the people of Sierra Madre decide the matter for themselves.

"There should be no objection from the opponents in having the question settled by a vote of the people. This method would be satisfactory to the proponents, and we shall be glad to abide by

Sales Tax Is Explained By Legislator

Relieves Burden On Property Owners, Martin Tells Kiwanis Club

Those who object to the sales tax do not realize the burden that is being lifted from the shoulders of the real property owner, nor how thinly spread and equitable a tax has been legislated into being, Assemblyman Frank G. Martin told a meeting of local business and professional men at the Kiwanis meeting Tuesday noon.

Explaining how the recently adjourned Legislature slashed governmental expenses from a former sum of $283,000,000 to $247,000,000, Martin stated as his belief that the value of the economy measures passed lies not so much in the dollars and cents represented as in the inspiration the legislation will give further legislatures when they consider unprecedented problems.

He cited three bills which had been put over as 'Little NRA' measures to prevent unfair competition. One stipulates that merchants may not sell below cost. This law is flexible and excludes bonafide clearance sales and private individuals sales. The second bill makes it unlawful to advertise goods for less than the contract price, and the third strikes home at retailers offering lures of rebates and gifts to customers. This latter act is teethed with a penalty of a $5000 fine and one year in jail, of both.

"Equal opportunities to all businesses," Martin said, "is the end toward which we worked. We had much to contend with in the matter of constitutionality. There were many questions raised as to the constitutionality of the various measures, but I believe that there will be no test suits filed to hinder such bills. They are for the good of all and can't possibly harm anyone."

Returning to the subject of the sales tax Martin said: "Why didn't we put the burden directly on the wholesalers and the merchants? Because that class is already loaded with Federal taxes, and we believe that in so doing we would be getting into the territory of the National government. If properly administered, the sales tax is the most thinly spread and fair tax that it is possible to get. It will hit the pocket of the man who formerly has been a tax slacker. The so-called poor man, who owns no property, who sends his children to schools he doesn't help to support, and who is making a good income .

"One phase not widely understood is that, for example, a property owner paying twelve dollars in sales tax money in a year's time will ultimately save thirteen dollars on twenty-six dollars property tax in the year. It is the little home owner, the dependable backbone

MERE GLANCE SHOWS THE UPWARD SWING

Yes, business is still getting better. Here's a glance at a few of its many phases

Building—Home building showing rapid increase; far ahead of last year.

Lumber—Production up.

Automobiles— Showing consistent gains in recent weeks.

Business Failures— In week ending July 27, were fewest for any full week this year.

Coal—Both soft and anthracite reported recent increases in production.

Employment— Gain for three months ending June placed close to 2,000,000.

Car Loadings— Well ahead of previous years; railroad earnings rising.

The Department of Commerce recently announced that steady expansion in industrial activity during July has pushed output to the highest level since the middle of 1930, and to 89 per cent of the 1923-25 average. There followed some indications of a seasonal leveling—which has been avoided so far this year—but there was no sign of an important break.

Large increases have been reported in heavy industries. These businesses are now awaiting public works activity as a major source of revenue and employment in near future. Consumer industries show steady improvement.

Dun and Bradstreet reports that the upward business tide has been but barely affected by the usual summer recession. Excellent sign is the steady appearance of corporation reports indicating fair and good profits; the crop for the previous three years was pretty sad to behold, with many entries in red.

Business revival starts in the east and then spreads westward, precisely as does depression. Pacific coast is the last to feel either; the Atlantic is the first. At present recovery is most potent in the New England territory. Woolen and cotton mills, and shoe manufacturers, are busier than for a long time.

ART LEAGUE MERELY TO DESIGN TEA HOUSE

To the Editor of the Sierra Madre News:

May I make a correction, re. an item that appeared in last weeks issue under the caption of "Allied Artists Plan Center Here."

To begin with, the Municipal Art League could not afford to build a small-sized pigeon house at present, let alone a tea house up in Floral Valley . . . This article continued by stating that "It has been definitely decided to merge the Players with the League."

Let me say that while it is the aim of the Art League to ally all of the arts in our community in a friendly relationship it has no intention of merging with any other organization.

The League was organized for the definite purpose of promoting education in art and art appreciation and not for assuming any obligations outside of this field.

To clear up the matter let me state the facts: Recently Mrs. Steinberger called me up stating that she had an idea to convert the barn on the Fennel estate into a tea house, with an artistic approach, etc., as an added attraction for next years' Wistaria Fete. Mrs. Steinberger suggested that our art students look over the location and submit designs for this project—the winning design to be awarded a substantial prize. I thanked Mrs. Steinberger for her cooperation with the League and suggested that she come down on the following class night and present the idea to the students. This she generously did and the date of September 14 was decided upon as the closing date for the contest.

In the words of another, I thank you.

H. I. HAWXHURST.

NO RECOVERY JUST LIKE THIS COMEBACK

If people were stupefied by the depression, they are stunned by the recovery. This Nation has, of course, always recovered from industrial breakdowns, but there never was a recovery similar to this one. According to the National City Bank of New York, it is "the most impressive showing of business recovery ever made in a comparable period in this country." Colonel Leonard P. Ayers, of Cleveland, says that improvement "is going forward in the United States today with a vigor never before equaled." Furniture dealers in a convention at Chicago declare that there is the greatest buying rush in their line for 38 years.

Farmers never experienced so rapid a recovery. And the country never before facilitated recovery after depression by Government action. Government let it alone to come back by dint of natural forces, or what were called "fundamental conditions," such conditions being generally slow revival after drastic deflation of both debts and values —Topeka Capital.

After all, advertising in a newspaper is NEWS while in other mediums it is just advertising.

SPECIAL WARNING IS GIVEN HUNTERS, HIKERS AND CAMPERS

The Forestry Department has sent out a special warning to all hunters, campers and hikers that particular attention will be given to enforcement of all regulations for fire prevention during the remainder of the summer season, as the high temperature and low humidity at this time makes the fire hazard extremely high.

Seen as another sure indication of returning prosperity, motor vehicle registrations are advancing sharply in California. In a report filed with Governor James Rolph Jr., by Theo. J. Roche, director of the Department of Motor Vehicles, it was said the increase had been mounting steadily for the last four months. The total gain for the months of April, May, June and July was reported by Roche as being 23,486 over the corresponding period of 1932. License fees collected during the period amounted to $617,084, a gain of $124,256 over last year.

"We regard the figures as a sure indication that business is on the upturn," said Roche.

The State Railroad commission has issued a statement announcing that its engineering staff is investigating complaints against inter-city telephone rates and that intervention on the part of any organized league taking money from the public for the alleged purpose of presenting the matter to the commission cannot possibly hasten or effect the termination of the investigation. The commission has scheduled a hearing of complaints filed by Glendale and 20 other municipalities against the existing intercity rates for early in September, but it will probably drag along for several weeks—or months.

Glendora is expected to desert its dry traditions a at special election fixed for September 29 when its citizens will pass upon the sale of beer in the municipality. It voted against repeal of the Wright Act and again against the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment ,the majority in the latter case being considerably smaller than when the Statewide enforcement law was under consideration. Claremont, La Verne, San Dimas and other adjoining towns also voted dry—including Covina, which has since legalized the sale of beer.

There's a real thrill for Americans in the survey of world aviation just completed by W. B. Courtney, who spent ten weeks in Europe flying over the leading commercial air routes there, and comparing them with similar American air routes.

"The airways of America have caught up with and passed all foreign rivals," he reports ."They are now the most efficient and reliable in the world."

American airports are superior to anything in Europe; American airway schedules are faster, more reliable, safer; Americans fly more miles per day than all the rest of the world put together. Air mail is still in its infancy in Europe. American air mail pilots carry more mail in a day than the average European country does in a year. Night flying is almost unknown in Europe.

On September 21 Pasadena "island" residents will vote for the third time in two years on the question of annexation to the city of Pasadena. At the last election a margin of three votes, out of the eighty voters and 200 residents living in the tract, defeated the plan.

Mrs. Baldwin Wants Ranch Assessment Cut To $600 An Acre

Mrs. Anita M. Baldwin has protested against the assessment of $800 per acre placed on her Santa Anita Rancho, original property of E. J. Baldwin, by the Arcadia city assessor. She asks for a reduction of $200 per acre, which is set forth as a fair figure.

Pointing to the entailment which covers the old ranch, her letter declared the ranch pays a large part of the indirect taxes of Arcadia without receiving any benefit—and cannot receive water, lights, or any municipal service until they are provided in such subdivisions as may be made.

A letter from Mrs. Baldwin's manager says that due to the manner in which the old ranch was left in E. J. Baldwin's will, it may not be used for any except agricultural purposes, and if allowed to be sold by the courts, cannot be sold except in wholesale as a large tract. Thus its valuation should be fairly based upon its value less the cost of adding utilities, the letter states.

10,000 Men Will Get Jobs In The Forest

To Build Roads, Trails And Fire Breaks In State Over Two-Year Period

To aid the nationwide program for industrial recovery and the re-employment of men, U. S Forest Service funds to the amount of $8,500,000 will be expended during the next two years in the construction and maintenance of forest highways, secondary roads and trails, fire prevention and admisistrative improvements in the 18 national forests of California and southwestern Nevada, according to statement by S. B. Show, Federal regional forester.

This amount of money will be used to purchase the machinery and equipment needed for the work, and it is estimated will also provide for one and one-half million man-days of labor, or the employment of 10,000 men at a substantial wage for a period of 150 days each. All positions, other than that of common laborer, will be under civil service, and work will be on the basis of a 30-hour week.

The appropriations received by the Forest Service under the National Industrial Recovery Act for expenditure within the National forests of the California Region are divided into three classes as follows: $2,978,000 for National forest roads and trails required for the administration, protection, utilization and development of the National forests; $2,660,000 for National forest highways which form a part of the United States and Federal-aid systems and are of great importance both to the traffic on these systems and in making of National forests accessible; $2,871,000 for National forest protection and administrative improvements ,and special forestry projects.

"The Forestry Service in California is prepared to go ahead with this work in an efficient and energetic manner," stated Mr. Show. "We have been systematically planning for all these activities for many years, but unfortunately have never been able to carry them out as planned because of lack of funds.

Local Sport Paragraphs

By John Copeland

California's duck season will probably open on the first of November and continue for 60 days, says the State Fish and Game Development association report. It may be several weeks before the new Federal regulations governing the open season at the waterfowl will be ready, and inasmuch as Secretary of Agriculture Wallace must okay the measures before they become effective in these parts, duck hunters aren't to shake the mothballs out of their red coats (or whatever duck hunters usually wear while a-hunting) until the final word comes.

Say you that duck hunting is a trivial subject to rattle along about? Give a listen then to this: 16,000 tons of feed will be purchased from California farmers for duck feeding purposes this next season, at a cost of about $350,000. In addition to this, 600 men will be given employment by virtue of the season's opening.

In the wide open spaces of Arrowhead nobody seems to have heard of the almost archaic word depression. While down here, near the business and manufacturing centers, sport is merely a by-product of commerce—there it's the other way around. Business is a product of sport. Instead of working to play, they play to work.

Funny when you get to looking at a common enough sight from a slightly different angle than before . . .

See that tiny figure silhouetted against a blaze of light on the lake. See him as he braces his feet far apart, clutching at a thin rope. As the plane of wood beneath him sends white spray up to either side, as it bounces desperately, then skids into a giant foamy arc in a desperate effort to send its rider plunging into the water .As the fast and powerful looking boat on the other end of the line tosses her knife-edged prow disdainfully from her element, leaps fitfully ahead, away from bondage . . . Sport? Of course. But it's also some folks' manner of making a living.

See the romantic picture: Men and girls trimmly clad in olive green riding breeches and polished boots, erect in their saddles, well groomed horses carrying them swiftly out of sight into the foliage of the forests. (My, how alliterative we're getting) . . . Sport? Quite. But the boy who owns those hosses has a cash register.

Slap hands as the nice girls come. They're wearing most every color including the Scandinavian. The colors however are not in any great quantities, due to the fact that the areas to be colored are not large . . . Tan is predominant. See the girls riding bikes, paddling canoes, dancing . . . Sport? Oh yes. But the rent money on those bikes buy shoes for babies, help fill cupboards .Those canoes do their part in reducing the unemployment problem. Dance tickets pay prospectively out-of-work musicians.

But even the apparent commercialism can't wipe out completely the kick of the combined mountain and water sports—can't utterly destroy the zip that comes with real fresh-water swimming (sans chlorine), with pine-tanged golf (sans auto smoke), with trout fishing . . . oh, oh, there we go rhapsodizing out of turn. The San Bernardino mountains appear to be in a state of stagnation as far as trout fishing goes.

We saw several energetic souls up before dawn in the Berdoo back-country Sunday with everything from flies to common garden worms for bait. Only fish we observed hooked was an odd looking thing, unquestionably not remotely related to a trout, and possibly of catfish ancestry.

Ray Fox, who is a nice junior player himself, gets all enthusiastic today and expands on the local tennis situation. May we give you Mr. Fox?

Despite the fact (he says) that tennis in Sierra Madre is still in its infancy, there is a promising number of good prospects.

Bill Hansen, 16-year old lad with six feet and two inches of altitude to his advantage, is developing a nice hard game which includes a cannon-ball service very difficult to return, and a hard drive with plenty of depth. Under his present tutor, Louis Fuller, Bill is due to rank high among the local players within a short time.

Don Blanke is another example of our young players. With a steadily improving game his service is versatile and difficult to handle. He is especially consistent and whenever forced to abandon his drive, he resorts to a nicely placed chop shot. He already ranks high among the first seeded ten in the city.

Thank you, Ray.

DEAR BUDDY:

Every once in a while comes some Comrade, and takes this here Legion thing real serious, and then look what you got. Take last night's meeting fer instance, when Brother Caukin turns over the gavel to this here "Wild Cat Shetler" and they both go inta a clinch and have a good long cry on each others shoulders, most of us got to sniffling along with em, and pretty soon it looked like a Auxiliary.

And how when they gets themselves untangled and looked around a couple of times they find that we got some visitors from this here San Marino Post, by the names of Comrade Ringstrom and Comrade Chanaty, and Comrade Chanaty he gets real friendly like and invites us al down to his place for a barbecue dinner, which He himself is gonna cook. Well after this "Wildcat Shetler" gets finished telling Brother Caukin whatta swell Commander he is they turn the hammer over to the new 18th district commander by the name of Lloyd Berwick. He lines all these officers up right in front of the flag and tels them al where to head in at for a whole year, and how not to carve their names in the piano, or run off with any of the Post's stamps or any of them kind of tricks, and then finishes up a nice job with a real smart talk on what the legionis figgering on doin next year.

Long about this time most of the Comrades ket kinda worried about just what old submarine Ben is cooking in that there big pot of hisen, so this "Wild Cat Shetler" person allows as how mebby we better call everything off till next meeting.

Vote Of People On Plan To Amend Beer Law Demanded Now

the decision of an election, same to be held as soon as possible."

This letter was referred to the full Council acting as a committee. Similar action was taken with Johnson's petition when it was presented and all other communications and petitions will be similarly referred, Mayor Reavis said, and at its leisure the Council will consider every phase of the question before taking any action.

Drunkeness Even Now

W. A. Evans appeared anticipating that Council intended to act on the proposed ammendment and was prepared to oppose it. "Those who wanted beer sold here in Sierra Madre were given everything they asked for at the time the present ordinance was passed several months ago," said Mr. Evans, "and now they want to change. If they are given that change now they will ask for others later. Eventually they will probably come back and ask for the open saloon. I pray that you will keep the good name of Sierra Madre and not consider any proposal that it shall be legal to drink beer where it is sold. That is a step toward the open saloon and more drunkenness. It is bad enough now and I hope that when you consider this proposition you will turn it down absolutely."

Rev. W. H. Hannaford, former pastor of the Congregational church said that "we have got to face the fact that the prospect is bright for repeal of the 18th ammendment," and that when the ammendment is repealed, control of beer and liquor business will be handled under State regulation. Under the circumstances he thought that the Council should go no further than it already has gone. The liquor interests, he said, want every community in the State to be known as a wet community in advance of the State taking control. If Council now permits the present 3.2 beer to be sold over the counter, it would be legal after the repeal of the 18th ammendment to similarly dispense beer of a much greater alcoholic content and to all intent and proposes the saloon of the past would be re-established.

Back to Old Order

"The liquor interests," he said, "expect confidently to go back to the old order of things and I do not believe that Sierra Madre which never had a saloon, and which until very recently never seriously considered legalizing the sale and consumption even of beer, is prepared to countenance the saloon." The proposed ordinance, he said, prohibits the sale of 3.2 beer to minors, and he wanted to know why, if it is as harmless as it is supposed to be, minors should not be privileged to have beer as freely as ice cream soda and other non-intoxicating beverages.

"In appearing before you to oppose passage of the present ordinance permitting the sale of beer, I prophesied that a change in the ordinance, such as now proposed, would be sought, though at that time those who now want beer sold over the counter declared such a thing was not even thought of," said J. O. Smith. He asserted it was only reasonable to suppose that the same interests that proposed the existing ordinance and that now seek to ammend it, would come before the Council after repeal of the 18th ammendment and ask for the privilege of dispensing hard liquor. "Wait," he said, "until the 18th ammendment is repealed before holding an election and then the whole question can be disposed of with one vote of the people."

Will Be No Haste

It was at this point that Mayor Reavis made his statement which was supplemented by a statement from City Attorney Phil Dodson explaining that while the Council was not in any hurry either to amend the odinance or to submit an amendment to a vote of the people, that proponants of the plan could force an election by initiative petitions without action by the Council.

J .F. Harvey endorsed the proposal of Mr. Smith that Council authorize no election until after the 18th ammendment is repealed. "For," he said, "as sure as we are here tonight, the 18th ammendment will be repealed. My own opinion is that we are headed for the open saloon and we must watch and keep our own city in the column of decent communities. Since this depression began the country has gone mad. Mob psychology is controlling the people and they are stampeding like a herd of buffalos when a desert sand storm comes along—plunging headlong into danger without knowing where they are going. That is the condition this country is in now. That is the condition that prevailed at the last election though I am not saying it might not have been a good thing that Roosevelt and all of the Democrats were elected. But I hope this Council will not be stampeded.

"As soon as the 18th ammendment is reepaled there will be a drive for hard liquor. In all probability it will result in the open saloon in this country. The liquor interests have left no stone unturned since adoption of the 18th ammendment. What is now called the legal beer was merely put forward as a salve to the people— as a stepping stone toward the return of the saloon, for the liquor interests never had any idea of stopping short of the return of hard liquor."

Fire Flames

By one of the boys

IF A FIRE should occur this week, a lot of responsibility will fall on the shoulders of those who are not attending at the firemen's convention. Some of the "big shots" are there, but with Joe Swanson and his first aid crew available, there is no cause to worry. Vern Udell is a very capable engineer, while Babbit and Hibbs know their stuff about the construction of the buildings, and this with the fine assistance of a lot of ordinary privates, our insurance rates will not be raised this week. However, the boys at the convention will be missed as well as envied. "Shorty" Steinberger will be especially missed if a fire call should come in. It seems that "Shorty" is given extra speed when that siren blows. One or two good leaps and bounds and he is aboard the truck and away.

Frank Lovell is preparing to leave on his vacation and confided to friends that he was going to take his radio along. Emile Smith said "That's a good idea, it sure needs a vacation."

Before going to the convention, Chief Richards and Mrs. Richards are going to spend several days at a dairy farm operated by a brother-in-law of the chief. Bill took along a bathing suit and as we know he doesn't care for milk to drink, we wonder if he intends to swim in it.

Despite the fact that the fishing season has been opened so long that it is not much talked of any more, Police Chief McMillan and Judge Neale slip off to the waters of the hills occasionally, even in the evenings after work. They are not doing any boasting, however. The only fish stories they tell are about fishing of years ago. "Mac" did catch a very small one the other day.

When we meet tonight, at least some of the fellows that attended the convention will be on hand, so it might be a good idea to be on hand and hear the dirt. As time goes on the dirt will out, so watch this space for further particulars. "Fire's Out."

THE OPEN LAWN

By Jessie Ward Russell
Landscape Gardener

IT IS often said that a lawn is to the landscape as a frame is to a picture. The green lawn sets off the shrubbery and flowers. The broad expanse of smooth unbroken lawn also gives the appearance of size to the home grounds. If the lawn area is cut up with drives and walks or large groups of shrubbery this spaciousness is lost. For this reason it is better to carry the walks to one side of the lot so that the lawn may not be broken up in parts. Masses of shrubbery should border the lawn on the sides. A few well placed shade trees planted in the lawn will not destroy this expanse if they are not planted in the middle of the lawn but somewhat to the sides.

Do you recall how the old-fashioned lawn on the 50-foot lot was divided down the middle with a cement walk from the house to the sidewalk and then in the middle of each of the small lawn plots that were left were planted a date palm which later grew so large that they completely hid the house from view The modern landscape gardener would throw the walk to the side and would have a large unbroken lawn in front of the house with a few well-chosen trees or palms planted to the side of the lawn.

It pays to have an automatic sprinkling system in the lawn because it distributes the water evenly without any waste. Also it does not wash the dirt from the roots as hand sprinkling is so very likely to do. And of course it saves time, which is important.

No matter how beautifully a garden is planted, it always lacks something if it does not have at least one small plot of green grass to set it off.

of the community, you must think of and help. He has been the one in need of help."

It is Mr. Martin's belief that it will be good phychology to issue the fractional tax stamps now under consideration, for they will make possible a precise charge and people won't subconsciously consider the fact that they pay a six percent rate on a fifteen cent purchase under the present experimental system of collection.

"Never before in the history of the State," he continued, "has there been a like plan to relieve the heavy burden carried by the real estate owner. To state that the sales tax is a burden or a hardship is an exaggeration, and not true."

Briefly sketching the work accomplished by the legislative sessions, Martin told of the staggering problems which the legislators had to face. He told of how those owing delinquent taxes have been relieved to such an extent that they may now have as much as 10 years in which to meet their obligations, with a nominal seven percent interest rate. A complete two-year moratorium on tax sales was also provided.

Touching on the importance of the NRA program, he said he was a good enough Republican to realize the necessity of supporting President Roosevelt a hundred percent, and that the service clubs, such as the Kiwanis club, are going to be of great use in enforcing the "New Deal."

"Each community," he advised, "should look to itself for ways of applying the various NRA advantages . In Sierra Madre, for instance, where the unemployment distress has been peculiarly hard due to location, it will be well to avail yourselves of the opportunities offered by construction work and sensible and worthwhile projects."

The meeting addressed by Martin was attended by many of the city's merchants. Councilman Layton presented the speaker of the day, and Roy Pickett, proprietor of Pickett's Service station, was presented with his membership pin by Clarence Huntsinger and welcomed into the club by President John Woehler.

Announcement was made by William Middough that next week's guest speaker will be Dr. Rockwell Hunt, Dean of the Graduate School of the University of Southern California. Joe Hill, South Pasadena Kiwanian, invited local members and friends to attend the second annual picnic of his club Wednesday evening, August 30. The events, commencing at 5 p. m., will include a baseball game and various games in the Arroyo Park on West Mission road.

CITRUS INDUSTRY GETS BEHIND THE NRA

Coincident with announcement from Washington defining the status of agriculture operations, the California Fruit Growers Exchange announced yesterday that it had signed the President's re-employment agreement for the central marketing organization here in California and for its 56 Sunkist sales offices throughout the Nation.

"We are officially advised that the NRA program will not apply to labor used in growing and packing fresh citrus fruits," said Paul S. Armstrong, general manager of the Exchange, "but that marketing groups are asked to comply, which we have immediately done.

"I am sure that the citrus industry is wholeheartedly behind President Roosevelt in his courageous effort to increase employment and improve buying power for the benefit of everyone."

A. L. A. Activities

By Dorothy Shetler

BACK on the job after the big convention. If you don't think it was some convention, just ask the folks that attended. We wondered if there was anyone holding down Sierra Madre, especially the last day of the convention. Seemed like every one was in Pasadena from the home town.

The reports on the business meetings have not been put in correct continuity for printing. Lucile Pickett served luncheon to the delegates and alternates on Tuesday noon. They all brought their notes and worked on getting everything in correct order for presentation. Some were fortunate to get notes one time and missed something else. So united they think they have the data on all three days.

Now for a few highlights as they occur to me:

Ernestine Alywood of Pasadena was elected Department President. That is lucky for the 18th District to have a State President chosen from our own district.

Gertrude Trumble was chosen 4th Area President and Irene Baker of San Dimas will be our next district president. Sierra Madre Unit has another vital interest in District affairs, for President-elect Leila Embree will be 1st Vice-president in the 18th

Leila is in for a lot of work at this time, as so many units are installing new officers. The 1st Vice-president assists in this. Irene Baker will be the Installing Officer when our local members take office, September 28.

On Wednesday of the convention, Lucile Pickett, Junior membership chairman, took ten Juniors and a guest to Muir Tech to watch convention proceedings. The girls were tremendously thrilled.

Mrs. Hazel Reid, formerly of Sierra Madre, was hostess to the two delegates and two alternates present for a luncheon in the Muir cafeteria. Her party consisted of Elizabeth Steinberger, Maybelle Barker, Leila Embree and Helen Lovejoy.

Kathryn Miller served two days as an usher. Bertha Irvine also worked two days as a Special Page. D. Shetler was all mixed up in the Ben Bowie (colored) Glee Club and the Bay District delegation. Neither crowd would give in to the other and one crowd was occupying the others' seats.

Our own Alhambra Drill Team won in the finals. Like the old man that said "We killed the bear,' 'we too claim some credit for their winning. Because it was to aid them raise money for that purpose that our Economy League Band was formed. And did those girls in their red and blue satin uniforms do some fancy drilling!

If you didnt see the Legion parade you missed a lot. For color and pep it was the real thing. And the local float was outstanding and so entirely different than the usual ideas on floats. We question if the judges weren't tired or didn't grasp the meaning portrayed that they couldn't do better than give it favorable comment.

Yours Truly followed the parade and everywhere the applause and remarks were most encouraging. The gorgeous Legion emblem in blue and yellow flowers on the center of the truck, alone merited special recognition. No other float had any floral work to even claim a small comparison. The float in all had a big idea portrayed and didn't depend on beauty alone for recognition.

Everywhere the legionnaires were saying they had never seen a truer picture of a front line graveyard ,it was so absolutely true to life. Commander Shetler as the doughboy standing in front of the golden sun holding aloft the torch looked like a statue as the rays of the real sun reflected the gleam of the man-made replica.

Leila Roberts as the War Nurse, Bertha Irvine personifying the Auxiliary, Twyla Stinman holding the dove as a Junior Auxiliary and Donald Miller as the Junior Legionnaire completed the setting made up of doughboys, Marine and Sailor.

Yes, it was a good float and this columnist knows it was because it was discussed everywhere in cafes, streets, convention and parties by persons from everywhere in the State.

If you are interested further in the business and the color, the seriousness and the hilarity of the convention, be sure and be at the next meeting Thursday night, September 14 and hear about it. Sylvia Quittner and Kathryn Miller will be the hostesses. And if those two can entertain like they can smile—nuff sed!

Records Fall As Soldiers Win 21 To 16

Nine Circuit Clouts Feature Weird Game With The Temple City Veterans

The Legion League records for home runs and total runs scored in a single game were smashed when the local soldiers whanged out a 21-16 victory over the Temple City veterans at Temple on Friday night. The Sierra Madreans marathoned the bases until they were dizzy. Poor lights in the outfield allowed most any hard hit fly ball to go for a home run and there were nine circuit clouts. The comparatively small number of errors only means that fielders couldn't spot the ball often enough to even fumble it.

Reavis and Burroughs alternated on the mound for the locals in the absence of Pratt, off on a fishing expedition. Cy Young performed various acrobatic stunts in his wild endeavors to snag balls hit into the darkness in left field. Pickett, Mathis, Burroughs and Young hit homers, Mathis driving in two runs. FEW RAIN DROPS HERE; RAIN IN HIGH PEAKS

A few scattered drops of rain fell in Sierra Madre Wednesday afternoon, as the electrical storm that later swept over other sections of the southland and raged in the mountain back-country made its presence known locally without more than a few distant sounds of thunder. Sheet lightning lit up the sky at intervals throughout Wednesday night.

Bankers Bat Out 8-3 Win Over All-Stars In The First Inning

Sierra Madre's All-Stars spotted the California Bankers to a six-run lead in the first inning of their encounter at the school field on Tuesday night and the bankers departed with an 8-3 victory. Five hits and three errors tell the story of the first inning disaster. Only two of the six markers represented earned runs. Pratt held the invaders scoreless on three hits during the last seven innings, but Bauer, flinging for the visitors, kept the nine local hits so well scattered that the flying start could not be overcome.

The All-Stars scored two runs in the fourth when Brain singled and came in on a wild toss by the catcher, and Draman walked and scored on a single by Pratt. The final tally came in the seventh when "Powerhouse" Parker pushed a homer into right field. The score

4-12 CLUB WINS OVER JUNIOR LEAGUE 14-7

Ray Fox starred for the Junior Legion Monday night, with four hits and two runs out of four times at bat, but his team as a whole was outclassed by Bethany's 4-12 outfit and dropped the ball game by a tally of 14 to 7. New Nets On City Park Tennis Courts

Two new Spaulding tennis nets were stretched across the public courts in the city park this week, replacing the worn ones that had served for the past three years. Because the sporting goods company first sent the wrong type of nets and the exchange took over a week, the city's players would have been without equipped courts temporarily but for the kindness of M. A. Woodward, of 99 Suffolk, who loaned the park a net for the interval.

Lower Valuations Call For Higher Tax Rate In Some Towns

Although some of the valley and foothill cities have felt compelled to raise their tax rates for the forthcoming fiscal year in order to compensate for the decreased valuations on property, an equal number have decided to either continue with the old rates or even to lower the present figures.

Alhambra courageously lowered its tax rate for purely municipal purposes, fixing it at $1.44 per $100 of assessed valuations. Monrovia has adopted a rate of $1.85, which is 25 cents higher than last year, the increase being due to a fifteen percent drop in property values. Claremont citizens will pay less tax than last year although maintaining the same rate as last year, $1.87. In Ontario a $1.78 tax compares with the $1.63 tax of 1933, and the rate is fifteen percent higher.

Glendora's City Council has announced that it will worry along with last year's tax rate of $1.90 per $100 of assessed valuation, notwithstanding the reduction of approximately 18 per cent in its assessed valuation.

Agreement Reached To Prorate Nation's Citrus Production

All California citrus marketing factors were in agreement yesteday on the final draft of a proposed marketing agreement for California and Arizona oranges and grapefruit and providing for National proration with Florida, Texas, and Porto Rico. This agreement must now be submitted to the Secretary of Agriculture for a hearing, September 5, according to Paul S. Armstrong ,general manager of the California Fruit Growers Exchange.

"If and when Secretary of Agriculture Wallace approves our code along with those of the other states," said Mr. Armstrong, "then all shippers will be expected to sign the agreement with the Secretary of Agriculture. All shippers will then be operating under Federal license, and a National citrus marketing agreement will be declared in effect."

The California and Arizona agreement provides for equitable proration of 100 per cent of the oranges and grapefruit produced in these states. It applies to fruit distributed throughout the United States and Canada. Exports, other than to Canada, are not included.

January Race Meet On Arcadia Track Seems Likely Now

Arcadians are pleading with Governor Rolph to use his influence with his new State Racing Commission for the immediate granting of a permit for Promoter Joseph M. Smoot's Santa Anita Jockey Club, so that work may be immediately resumed on the course at Sierra Madre avenue and Huntington Drive with a consequent opening of the track on or about Thanksgiving Day. The probability is, however, that no action will be taken by the Racing Commission on any of the applications before it until about the second week in September and that the initial track meet will not be held before late December or early January.

The Racing Commission is said to doubt the possibility of racing in Southern California on any track until early in 1934, believing that it would not be possible to complete any of the courses in advance of January.

Gas Masked Firemen Subdue Blaze At G. F. Blakeslee Ranch

A fire, presumably caused by a gas water heater explosion, raged for a brief time in the basement of the George F. Blakslee home at 461 West Orange Grove avenue early Wednesday afternoon, and necessitated Firemen George Babbitt and Joe Swanson's donning gas masks to subdue it. The flames, fed by firewood and old newspapers, filled the basement with a dense smoke making it most difficult to combat.

The ceiling beams were badly charred and the house would have been a mass of flames in a short time .

A year ago the fire department purchased two gas masks for just such occasions, and the volunteer firemen state that although Wednesday was the first time they were necessary they more than paid for themselves and proved their value.

State Won't Issue Stamps To Collect Retail Sales Tax

Individual merchants may issue fractional cent tokens or stamps to facilitate collection of the State retail sales tax on small purchases, but the State Board of Equalization made it definitely known this week that the State will not do so.

Flatly declaring that the collection of a penny tax on a five or ten cent sale is "entirely without justification" the Board warns that "such profiteering and chiseling under the guise of taxation will be stamped out at any cost. Any system of "housemoney" may be used just so the total tax does not exceed the legal 2½ percent ,the board announced.
